What is the NSSR?	NSSR stands for Non-Standard Software Request. It is the legal review of non-standard software prior to its installation in any Accenture-owned workstation and laptop in the Delivery Center where the request is raised.
What is the scope of the NSSR?	All installation and use of non-standard software (freeware, trialware, shareware, open source software, OEM software, commercial software) in Accenture machines (workstations, laptops etc) in the Philippine and India Delivery Centers.

The following are examples of out-of-scope installations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. Installation of client provided software in client-provided laptops and workstations.</li> <li>ii. Installation of drivers only detectable by the OS installed in the Accenture workstation/laptops for use and access of a device (i.e. printer, mouse, data cards etc.)</li> <li>iii. Access of the application via the internet without installation of a “client” or application in Accenture workstations and laptops.</li> <li>iv. Installation of software available on SAC (software.Accenture.com)</li> </ul>
What is Accenture standard software?	These are standard software available for download from the internet as well as other products from Microsoft (Select and MSDN). They include (a) Software found in the Accenture website software.accenture.com; (2) Software that are part of Accenture workstation (on default) or server software image and (3) Software reviewed by CIO Security and approved for use globally.

Not found at the software.Accenture.com site.</li> <li>c. Not approved for use and installation by CIO.</li> </ul>

Purchased off-the-shelf, downloaded with shrink wrap license, or covered by an enterprise license from an Accenture Alliance Partner; or</li> <li>B. Software purchased after negotiations by Procurement team.</li> </ul> </li> <li>B. Client – provided <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. Procured by client for Accenture's use in client service delivery;</li> <li>ii. Use of which is mandated or “recommended” by the client for use of Accenture; or</li> <li>iii. Software incidental to the procurement of services from a vendor by Accenture.</li> </ul> </li> <li>C. Software incidental to the services being provided for Accenture by a vendor.</li> </ul>
What is OEM software?	OEM stands for Original Equipment Manufacturer. It is software that is manufactured by the OEM and purchased by another company to be sold under its brand name. This type of software is bundled with hardware (e.g. printer, scanner, broadband, etc.)
Who owns the NSSR Legal Review Process?	The NSSR Review Process is owned by Accenture GDN Legal.
Who conducts the NSSR Legal Review?	The Legal Global Services Center resources (supporting GDN Legal) handles the NSSR Review. Legal guidance and approvals are provided for by GDN Legal.
What is the Service Level Agreement /Turn Around Time?	Our review process usually takes 3-5 days from the receipt of the complete information from the project team and our dependencies, provided that there are no outstanding issues.

Must I obtain NSSR approval prior to purchase of the non-standard software?	Yes, the Procurement team will process the purchase of software only if you have an NSSR approval.
What is Linking (Dynamic and Static)?	In computing, a linker or link editor is a computer program that takes one or more object files generated by a compiler and combines them into a single executable file, library file, or another 'object' file. Linking can either be dynamic or static. Static Linking - refers to linking of library files in a manner wherein the contents of the library file are copied into the target application via a linker/compiler at link/compile time to create a stand alone executable. During such process, the library code is stored within the executable rather than in separate files. Therefore, any such resultant executable may be considered to be a derivative of the program/software whose library is used in the process. Dynamic Linking - refers to linking of library files every time the target application is executed, at load time or run time, rather than when the executable file is created. During the process of dynamic linking, the library files run in a separate address space and data is passed through command lines, pipes etc. so that they are separate from the target application.
What is Software distribution?	Software distribution is the process of providing or selling copies to end users or third parties other than the licensee. This applies even if the end users are Accenture resources. This should not to be confused with "distribution or distro", which is collection of software components built, assembled and configured so that it can be used essentially "as is" for its intended purpose.

What is the legal basis for asking if the software has a recording feature?	RA 4200: The Anti-Wire tapping Law (PDC Only) NSSR legal review considers statutory and local laws that may affect your use of the software. In the Philippines, one of the laws we consider is the Anti Wire Tapping Act (Republic Act 4200). Under RA 4200, secretly overhearing, or recording or intercepting private communications with recording equipment without consent of the parties involved in the communication is considered a violation of the law. This covers devices such as tape recorders, dictaphones and radios, which can be used to record or intercept communication. This list of devices is not exclusive, and can cover all new technology we currently use. Hence, PDC Legal in consideration of this law, provides guidelines on the use of the software intended for recording.
Do I need to submit a copy of the software's End User License Agreement (EULA)? Why?	Yes, you need to send a copy of the EULA. The EULA is critical to our review because it enumerates the rights granted to you as end-users and the limitations of such rights. Specifically, it identifies the obligations, prohibitions, and risks attached to the installation and use of the software. These will be one of the basis of the approval or denial of the request.
What are the potential legal risks if I use non-standard software without undergoing NSSR?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(i) Infringement claims may be made against Accenture by the software vendor and/or other third party</li> <li>(ii) Possible civil liability (e.g. direct and consequential damages) to Accenture and/or its responsible officers</li> <li>(iii) Possible criminal liability to Accenture and/or its responsible officers</li> <li>(iv) Loss of reputation to Accenture</li> <li>(v) Damage to company's relationships with clients, software vendors, and/or partners</li> <li>(vi) Loss of Accenture Intellectual Property</li> </ul>
Where can I find the End User License Agreement (EULA)?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. The EULA/License may be publicly available in the software website.</li> <li>b. If you already have the software, you can extract the EULA/License from the application or software. Please contact DC ISU for assistance.</li> <li>c. If software is client provided, you may request for the EULA from them.</li> <li>d. You may also reach out to the vendor/software developer.</li> </ul>

Is the NSSR process mandatory for all non-standard software?	The NSSR process is mandatory in the Philippine and India Delivery Centers, pursuant to Accenture Policies 59, Policy 57 (section 7A) and Policy 56 (section 9.5).
Links to Accenture Policies	Accenture Policy 56 (sec 9.5) - https://policies.accenture.com/policy/0056 Accenture Policy 57 - https://policies.accenture.com/policy/0057 Accenture Policy 59 - https://policies.accenture.com/policy/0059 Accenture Policy 90 - https://policies.accenture.com/policy/0090 Accenture Policy Policy 314 - https://sites.accenture.com/publishing/Legal/IntellectualProperty/OpenSourceSoftware/Pages/default.aspx is the link for Open source software resource site.
Where can I find my Contract Manager and/or Legal Account Lead details?	You may: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Reach out to your supervisor, team lead, manager, or senior manager for the names of your CM/LAL; OR</li> <li>2. You may check with your CDP Plan for the details.</li> </ol>
My project provides services to an external client but it does not have a Legal Account Lead (LAL) or Contract Manager (CM). Whose name should I indicate under CM/LAL?	If you are certain that your project does not have either a LAL or CM, you may indicate the name of the transacting counsel who helped in the negotiation of the contract.

What are the sanctions/penalties in case of non-compliance or violation of the NSSR?	Failure to comply with NSSR will be reported and disciplinary action may be taken. Such action may include, but is not limited to, reprimand, financial penalties, termination of employment, and/or legal action
